

WARNING! WARNING! WARNING!

Now that we have your attention.... It's that time of year again, when the Weed Police are lurking around every corner, hiding in alleys and arroyos, waiting for your weeds to sprout!

And when they do sprout, our Deed Adherence Officer, Jim Ellis, will be all over it, sending you a dreaded Weed Letter, reminding you to get those weeds removed.

Monsoon season will end soon, taking with it the rains that encourage weeds to grow, and you will be left with just the weeds...and an unhappy Jim Ellis.

In order to avoid any of these dire scenarios, you might want to consider spraying your yard with a pre-emergent such as Amaze, which keeps seeds from sprouting. It won't have an effect on plants already growing, just on the seeds the weeds are spreading. Spray Amaze in the fall and in the spring to keep your yard weed-free.
